Contact

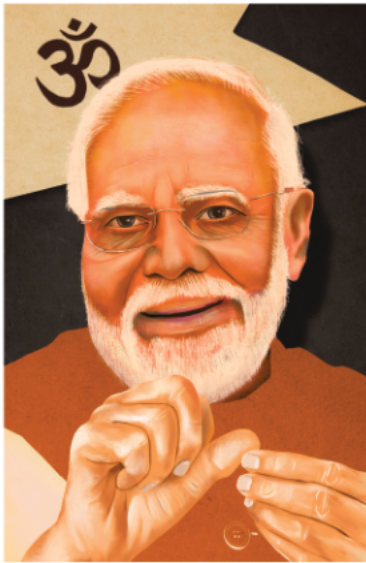

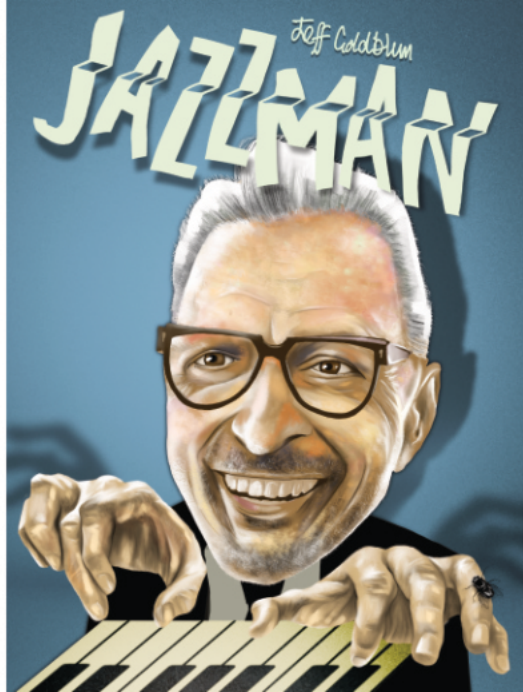

I grew up in South London not far from streets once occupied by the artist and poet William Blake. Nowadays, having moved further South, I find myself in the vicinity of the young David Bowie. This all seems to make perfect, poetic sense.

Portraits

If you have a face I'll find your story.

The Donald

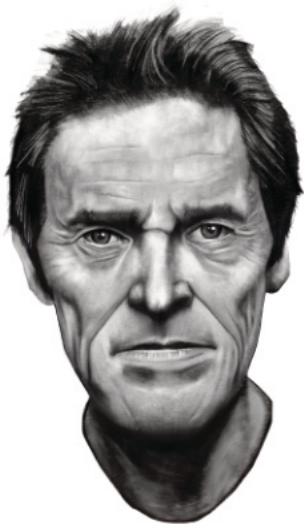

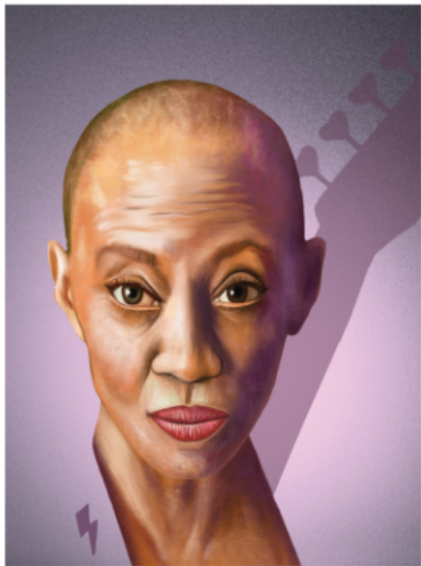

An American cartoon or populist monarch?

Dead Soul

The politics of psychopathology in the post-moral order.

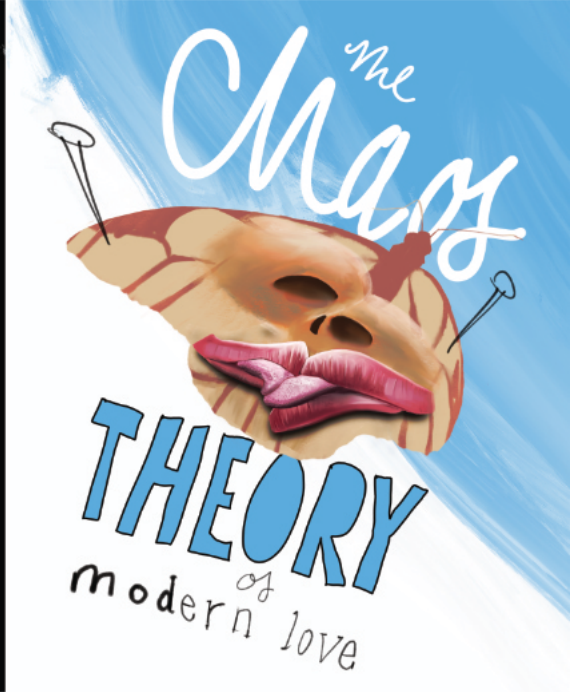

Politics & Culture

The world seems to be exploding right now. I attempt to tell the story of that explosion in slow motion, somewhat ironically and with a degree of humour...

3 TULPA

The Dreaming has taught you that you are not making something from Nothing, but recreating from Absence already existing matter, animated by a split consciousness. This pseudo-doppelgänger is flawed, fatally, with an expiration date you can, and should, fix. Be mindful that this is a kindness not a curse. Now you can follow the steps to Manufacture.
